One More for the Road!

Fifty-five years have passed since a middle-aged Henry Luce introduced a young new President to the brand new Time & Life Building.

"How many people work there?" JFK asked. "About half of them," Luce replied.

Since those days (and during all-too-many all-nighters) many super talents toiled with dedication and distinction.

GOP Hopefuls Split on Sending Ground Troops to Middle East

(ATLANTA)—Republican presidential candidates are split on whether the U.S. should send ground troops to the Middle East to combat Islamic State forces. And most of those who would commit troops offer few details on their plans. “I don’t see anybody on our side coming up with a robust plan that truly would destroy” the Islamic State militants, South Carolina Sen. Lindsey Graham said

Breaking News Across Time Inc.

There is at least one person in Montreal who is equally fond of marijuana and tennis, and Novak Djokovic has had enough. During his semifinal match at the Rogers Cup on Saturday, Djokovic complained to the umpire that someone's funny cigarettes were making him a little woozy. "Someone is smoking weed," TV cameras caught Djokovic saying. "I can smell it. I'm getting."
